PAC

UPDATE

The service has been doing quite well over the past few months. We have been able to continuously post on our assigned days, with one day allocated to the arts quad and the second allocated to the science quad. Despite midterms and exams that are now near approaching, volunteers have continued to show their efforts by continuing to help out on a weekly basis.

SERVICE USAGE

The usage of PAC has remained relatively constant over the past month or so. We have received a large number of email inquiries regarding how PAC can help promote certain events and how to go about getting posters approved. Over these first few weeks after the break, we have seen a large volume of submissions, with over 45 sets of posters submitted.

UPCOMING EVENTS, PROJECTS & ACTIVITIES

Postering will continue on the scheduled days, even as midterms proceed within these upcoming weeks. As the year comes to an end, we have been continuing to wrap things up. With that being said, cleaning out the cupboard has been one of our main priorities along with sticking to our planned posting days. We plan to have a volunteer appreciation dinner to thank those that have been able to donate their time to posting over the past year. Lastly, PAC is going to set up a meeting with the Underground to ensure that the transition runs smoothly.

CURRENT CHALLENGES

I have had a few individuals contact me in regards to posters that they have noticed to go missing around campus. Although it is unfortunate to see this happen, I have ensured these individuals that all PAC volunteers have been following our servicing policy and only removing posters that need to be removed (ie. the date has passed). Furthermore, I have been reinforcing the idea that PAC does not regulate posting in MUSC and only has control over the MSU assigned PAC boards. Lastly, I pointed out that unfortunately, the boards are not locked and as such, the general public is capable of coming in contact with all material that is posted.
